Susie Smith | PROJECT MANAGER

How has sensei IQ changed my daily work?

I can finally manage my projects without excessive administration and duplication of information. Sensei IQ provides me with a quick, easy and intuitive way of updating my projects. I now have visibility across all of my projects which allows me to focus on high value tasks ensuring that my projects are delivered on time and on budget.

What are my major gains?

No matter if I am a professional project manager or simply a business owner or subject matter expert with limited project management experience, I now have a way to effectively manage my projects and clearly communicate their value. Concurrently my team has become more productive through utilizing the effective collaboration tools and capabilities of sensei IQ. The holistic view we now receive on our projects enables everyone to know where we are in our project execution journey.

Joe Bran | PROGRAM & PORTFOLIO MANAGER

How has sensei IQ changed my daily work?

Realtime visibility of all my programs and portfolios has significantly improved the way we manage our work. Communication between the sub-projects and programs are more streamlined and sensei IQ allows us to make more informed decisions as well as helping us reach our business goals sooner.

What are my major gains?

Sensei IQ gives us a clear alignment between our strategic direction and the portfolio, programs and projects we have executed. I can now confidently provide consistent high-quality information to our executive team allowing us to breach the strategic execution gap and allowing us to successfully track our strategic goals with predictable benefits realization.

David Brown | EXECUTIVE

How has sensei IQ changed my daily work?

In the past we had a strategic execution gap, which was a big challenge for us. Through sensei IQ we can now plan and track our strategy concisely. Our entire team is focused on accomplishing our strategic goals. In my role that means I can clearly define and track the organizational roadmap for success.

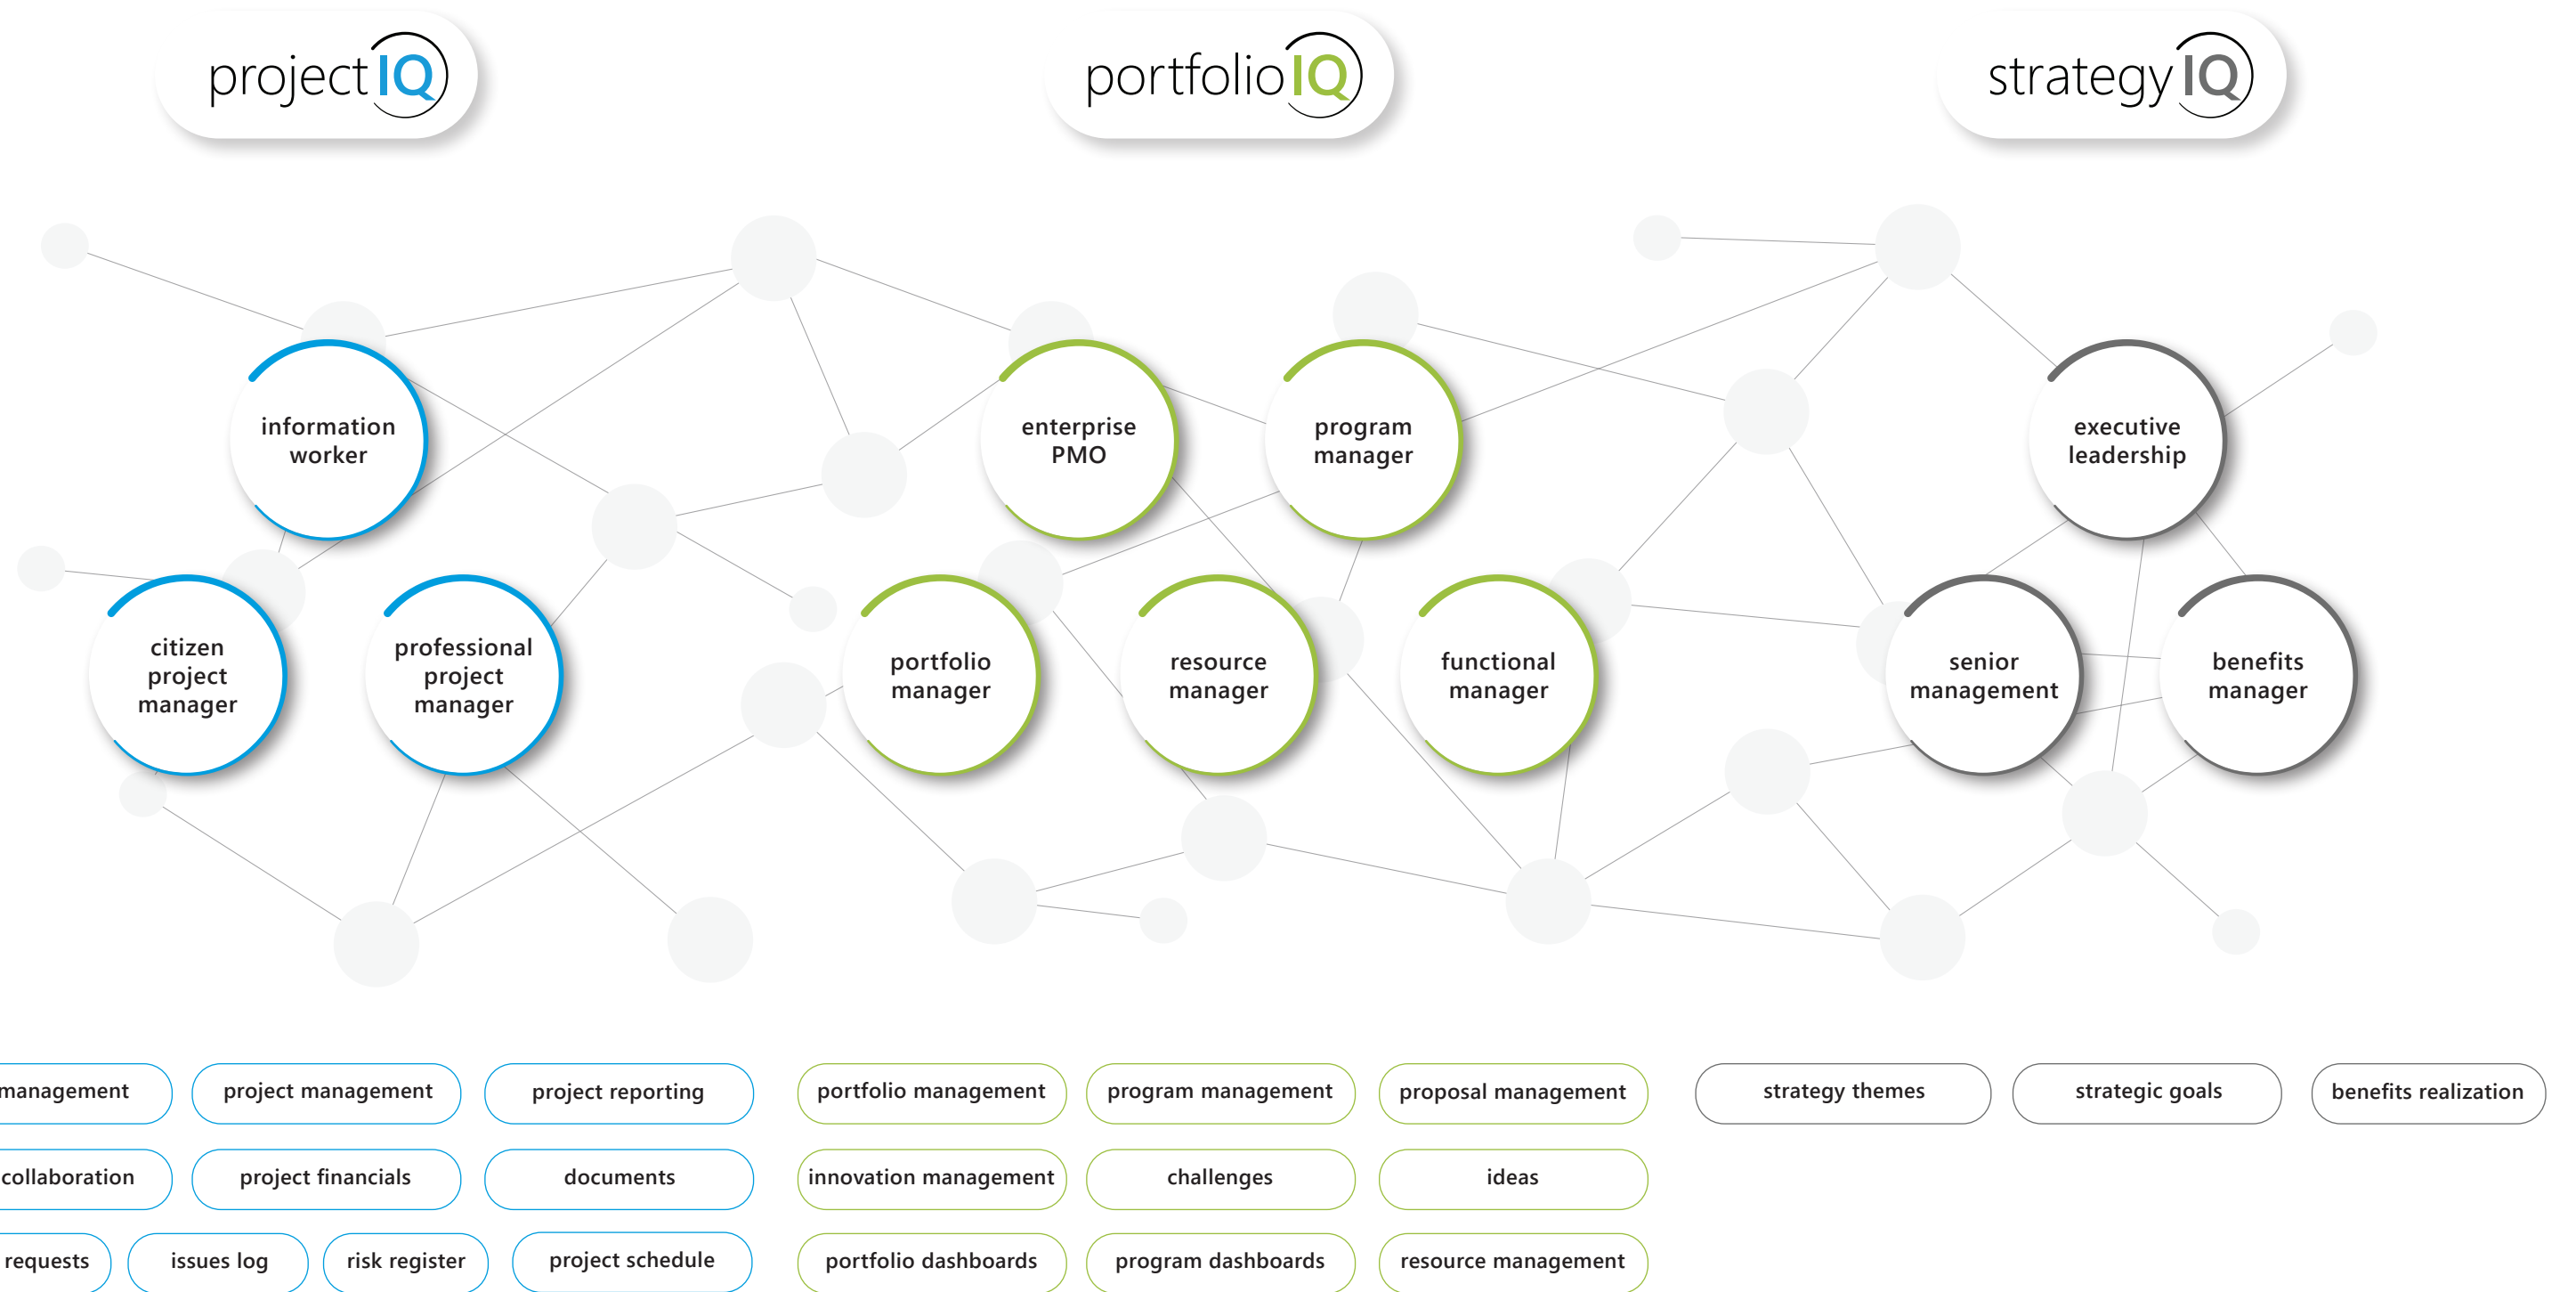

What are my major gains?

Personally, I have a clear understanding at any time where to steer our organization. For our shareholders the biggest gain is confidence in our strategy and my entire team is focused on achieving the measurable goals for our company.

the team behind sensei IQ

Sensei has one of the most experienced and well-respected teams in the Microsoft Partner ecosystem covering the full suite of Microsoft based Portfolio, Program, Project and Work Management business technologies.

The consistent success of our customer delivery outcomes lies in understanding that a successful project requires varied perspectives throughout an engagement.

This means that we will ask a lot of questions up-front; to understand your business, your industry, and to really understand what you are hoping to gain by engaging us.

Then we will bring to you a combination of different skills: business consulting, project management, solution architecture, app development, product know-how and recommendations, training and support.

Sensei believes that to drive the successful implementation and adoption of technology, all these skills must work in unison, in an environment that allows both your team and ours to feel like we have a shared vision and purpose.

Finally, we strongly believe in, and try to demonstrate daily, our core values (see grey panel). We really believe this represents our organization and we encourage that if you'd like to be part of our story, or want to know more, please reach out and talk to us.
